A message from Miss Woodward

I hope you are well as we approach the halfway point of this unusual term. It's pleasing to see that so many families are engaging with the work we are providing for those pupils learning from home. None of us can claim that this situation is easy so we thank you for all you are doing to support your child's learning. Please remember we are always here to talk to you and we will endeavour to support you in any way we can. Next week we are hoping to receive chrome books for our year 2 children. As soon as they arrive, we will contact parents/careers in year 2 to come and collect them. I am sure the children will be very excited when they receive their own Chromebook.

*Take care and stay safe
Miss Woodward*

See, Hear, Respond Support Hub

We're living in extraordinary times right now, and it can sometimes feel, or be, very overwhelming. There is an exhaustive amount of information available about Coronavirus, and it can be hard to know where to start, and that's why we have created this space. It's a central place for you to explore, where you can find information, resources & tools - from practical advice on how to talk to your children about the pandemic, to tips on managing anxiety and much more.

Virtual School Library

Children across the country will be able to read free books online starting with a story by Dame Jacqueline Wilson. Oaks National Academy, a Government backed virtual school, is launching a virtual library so children can read books from popular children's authors digitally. Children will be provided with a free-to-access book every week from the library's author of the week. Dame J Wilson's The Story of Tracey Beaker will be the first book available to read free for a week from January 17th.

"What is the bravest thing you've ever said?" asked the boy.

"Help." said the horse.
